ATTEMPT TO REACH WITH WIRELESS

LOCAL NAVAL STATION WILL TRY TO GET INTO COMMUNICATION WITH THE THOMAS.

The local Naval wireless station will make an attempt early tomorrow morning before daylight to get into communication with the U. S. Army transport Thomas which is due to arrive here tomorrow afternoon from San Francisco.

It is believed that the Thomas will have an interesting story to tell of long distance conversations between the transport Sherman and herself.

The Sherman sailed from this port for San Francisco on December 5, the afternoon of the day the Thomas sailed from San Francisco. They have passed, though not necessarily sighting each other, and the probabilities are that they were talking right along as the distance between them decreased and as the waters again widened between them.

As the Thomas approaches Honolulu near enough for the wireless station here to catch her she will pass word along to the Sherman as that vessel arrives off the California coast and the Sherman will pass it on to the Farallones, Mare Island or North Head, Oregon, as was done when the Sherman was fifty miles out of here and the Thomas was about a day out of San Francisco.

The message then passed between the Sherman near here and the Thomas not far from the Coast was passed on to North Head, about 1700 miles intervening between the two transports.

NIGHTMARE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH WAS NOT CONSIDERED BY THE MEMBERSHIP.

There will be no meeting of the Board of Health this afternoon. Dr. Frank E. Wallace states that he does not know when a meeting will be called.

It has been supposed that a meeting would be held today, as this is the usual day of the week for the meetings of the Board. However, as Dr. Wallace states, the Board is still hanging fire. The Board sometime ago by its president, after a few secret meetings had been held with a number of the leading Hawaiian politicians, drew up an agreement under which the doctor of animals and female rock fairs were to be engaged to make his demonstration see a car in twelve hours from the settlement. This was signed by a committee of the experts themselves and approved by a mass meeting for which Prince Clegg made a trip to the settlement and raised. But as might be expected Wallace was not satisfied with the terms, and succeeded in dividing

THE most recent proposition for the discovery of the North Pole is made by no less renowned an explorer than Ronald Amundsen, who, three years ago, concluded a three-years exploration of the Northwest Passage. Captain Amundsen's novel proposition is to employ polar bears as draught animals, and in forwarding his idea he claims that these animals are far more enduring than dogs or reindeer and can easily be trained for the work.

Hagenbeck, of Hamburg, and Rose, of Coney Island, will train the bears and several cubs are at present being trained near Hamburg. The bears are petted and taught to associate with human beings.

Captain Amundsen thoroughly believes in his scheme. He says the cold of the North is exactly what the bears like and one bear is able to haul as much as a hundred dogs. The venturesome explorer will try to secure the "Pram," Nansen's old ship, and believes that he can locate the geographic pole. The bears will be fed on seal flesh. The trip will be made in May by Behring Sea.

ENA started in with the company as bookkeeper, when the business was that of J. R. Foster & Co., owning a fleet of seven small schooners. The James M. K. was owned by the Miller Salvage Company, was the first steam vessel of the company; the C. H. Bishop was the next and then the Iwai. To John Ena and Captain Godfrey is due the flourishing condition of the Inter-Island Company.

WORM DOCTOR BOBS UP AGAIN

NIGHTMARE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH WAS NOT CONSIDERED BY THE MEMBERSHIP.

At the special meeting of the trustees of the Honolulu Baseball League held yesterday afternoon, the use of the grounds were offered to the Chicago-American baseball team for nothing for the term of eight weeks, however fifteen per cent of the profits received from all exhibition games will go to the Trustees of the League for the upkeep of the grounds. The Trustees felt that they would not be able to take charge of the grounds, so the matter was placed in the hands of Jess Woods, who will have the entire care, excepting that the grounds will be under the direction of the Trustees. Woods will call Manager Connally this afternoon to await letter and the letter giving all details and terms will go by the China's mail on Friday. What terms will be made with Woods would not state. "As the entire thing is under my own management and the only thing that I will do is to see that the Trustees get their 15 per cent for the use of the grounds."

DAMAGED SHIP READY TO SAIL

TEMPORARY REPAIRS MADE AND VESSEL TO PROCEED TO ORIENT WITH LARGE LUMBER CARGO.

Eight hundred tons of lumber will have been put aboard the Norwegian S. S. Admiral Borries by tomorrow morning and she will be ready to sail Saturday with her $500,000 load of lumber for the Orient. She is at present lying at the foot of Fort street and those who have not before had an opportunity of viewing the big freighter which suffered from the force of a tidal wave on November 1, are now able to get a glimpse of her injuries, although some temporary repairs have somewhat relieved her of her distressing appearance.

Wooden derrick-masts have been planted in the hollow bats of the steel masts she lost in the storm and a temporary wood bulkhead has been erected under her bridge, although the rain of the cabin is still piled behind. Her starboard bulwarks are cramped over the side and will not be repaired until she goes on drydock for complete repairs.

Her deck cargo of over 500,000 feet of heavy timber has been reloaded and is now being chain-lashed across.
